Stories in Color includes five different remixes on our traditional childhood fairytales. Amayah Nunez, the Latina Little Red Riding Hood, takes on the challenge of discussing the frequent exoneration of Catholic priests' sexual abuse of children in Latin American communities. Hope Wilson, the Black Cinderella, deals with both the generalization of domestic workers being women of color and the troublesome mother-daughter dynamic. Sabria Shah, the Muslim-Indian Rapunzel, shines light on a Brown girl living in America and how she copes. Bianca Walker, the biracial Snow White, shows how light skin privilege affects the Black community. And lastly, Natalie Nagi Sati?, the Japanese Sleeping Beauty, combats the stereotypes that Eastern Asian women have to face. Follow the lives of these five young women in their journeys of discovering themselves through their common experiences of being a young woman of color in the United States. After reading these collections of stories, you'll be left with this question; who is and who is not a part of the storytelling narrative in fairytales?

Chronicles the life and career of one man involved for thirty-five years in American organized crime

The mysterious history of Rosslyn Chapel and the Knights Templar is revealed in this authoritative volume by a descendent of its first patrons. In the 15th century, William Sinclair, 1st Earl of Caithness and Baron of Roslin, built a Catholic chapel in the Midlothian region of Scotland. Famous for its esoteric symbolism, this flamboyant Gothic church was of great importance to the Knights Templar, who formed a third Temple of Solomon with the patronage of the Sinclair lairds. Historian Andrew Sinclair, whose own family lineage traces back to William, explores the rise and fall of Rosslyn over the course of centuries. It is a tale of religious conflicts and ancient relics, of epic battles and secret societies. Along the way, he dispels the many myths and misinterpretations that have grown up around Rosslyn, as the fortunes of the Sinclair family declined and the Church and Castle fell into ruin.

This special issue is devoted to new stories by celebrated Duck writer Geoffrey Blum, and features the art talents of Daan Jippes, Daniel Branca, Massimo Fecchi, and Carlos Mota When rats invade Scrooge's money bin, the crisis creates a Powerplay on Killmotor Hill, especially when lucky Cousin Gladstone gets involved! Next, in Scent of a Sorceress, Magica De Spell attacks Scrooge with moly, a mystical hypnotic herb. Wag the Dog pits Huey, Dewey, and Louie's favorite dog park against the threat of Scrooge's savings-and-loan mall. And finally Race for the Golden Apples, based on a long-lost Carl Barks story idea, ensnares Donald, Daisy, and Magica into a most unusual contest of strength!

The Definitive Collection, prepared under the watchful eye of cartoonist Don Rosa./strong

Welcome back to Sherwood Forest... The delights of Dumas' novels are well known. Less known today are his tales of Robin Hood. With pleasure, we present these two old works to a new century of readers. English versions of "The Prince of Thieves" and "Robin Hood the Outlaw" have virtually disappeared from bookshelves; they are now edited, corrected, and made accessible to the world in print and e-formats, by the Reginetta Press. In this first volume, "The Prince of Thieves," Alexandre Dumas relates his own unique version of Robin Hood's origins and upbringing, how Robin was robbed of his heritage, how Robin becomes acquainted with Marian, Little John, Friar Tuck, and the Merrie Men, and the events leading up to Robin Hood's life as an outlaw. Alfred Allinson's translation lends enchantingly antique wording, transporting us to the charm of a Sherwood Forest of former, fanciful days.

An unprecedented comics collection of Scrooge McDuck's life story, this epic Duckburg serial is back for keeps in a beyond-complete oversized full color deluxe edition--and comes slipcased with a special commemorative coin, available nowhere else!

Examines the many reasons and motivations for the destruction of books throughout history, citing specific acts from the smashing of ancient Sumerian tablets to the looting of libraries in post-war Iraq.

"Chronicling the pleasures and struggles of Michelangelo Merisi (who the world would come to know as Caravaggio) during the painter's early years in Rome, this seminal work is Manara's love letter to his idol--one of the most revered and influential artists in history. Filled with striking and timeless artwork, this hardcover is the first English-language edition of another modern Manara masterpiece"--

When Donald and the boys wind up in Old California, the rush is on -- for the gold in them thar hills! Carl Barks delivers another superb collection of outrageous hijinks, preposterous situations, bamboozlement, befuddlement, and all-around cartooning brilliance.

Interviews with the Disney artist who created Scrooge McDuck and many well-loved comic books Disney artist Carl Barks (1901-2000) created one of Walt Disney's most famous characters, Scrooge McDuck. Barks also produced more than 500 comic book stories. His work is ranked among the most widely circulated, best-loved, and most influential of all comic book art. Although the images he created are known virtually everywhere, Barks was an isolated storyteller, living in the desert of California and preferring to labor without public fanfare during most of his career. He created work of such exceptional quality that he was accorded the greatest autonomy of any Disney artist. He is the only comic book artist ever to receive a Disney Legends award. The influence of Barks's work on such filmmakers as George Lucas and Steven Spielberg and on such artists as Gottfried Helnwein has extended Barks's significance far beyond the boundaries of comics. After Barks's death at the age of ninety-nine, Roy Disney praised him for his "brilliant artistic vision." Carl Barks: Conversations is the only comprehensive collection of Barks's interviews. It ranges chronologically from the very first one (with Malcolm Willits, the fan who uncovered Barks's identity) to the artist's final conversations with Donald Ault in the summer of 2000. In between are interviews conducted by J. Michael Barrier, Edward Summer, Bruce Hamilton, and others. Several of these interviews are published here for the first time. Ault's friendship with Barks, ranging over a period of thirty years, provides an unusually intimate resource not only for standard q&a interviews but also for casual conversations in informal settings. Carl Barks: Conversations reveals previously unknown information about the life, times, and opinions of one of the master storytellers of the twentieth century. Donald Ault, a professor of English at the University of Florida, is the author of Narrative Unbound: Re-Visioning William Blake's The Four Zoas and Visionary Physics: Blake's Response to Newton. His work has been published in Studies in Romanticism, The Wordsworth Circle, Modern Philology, and The Comics Journal.
